Prelude Peaceful Meditation II Paul Fey

Welcome and Life of the Church

✞Invitation to Worship

One: When we stand at the edge of fear and worry,
All: God invites us to step into the waters of faith and trust.
One: When we stand at the edge of the world's pain and need,
All: Jesus invites us to step into the land of humble service.
One: When we stand at the edge of our despair,
All: the Spirit invites us to follow Christ and discover the deep joy of serving and healing a broken world.

✞Hymn 298 Lord, You Give the Great Commission ABBOT'S LEIGH

✞Time of Confession and Assurance of God's Grace

One: Lord Jesus, you called your disciples to travel light and trust your provision, yet we often weigh ourselves down with worry and pride.
All: Forgive us, Lord, and strip away our self-reliance.
One: You sent your messengers to speak peace into every home, yet we often bring conflict, judgment, or indifferent silence.
All: Forgive us, Lord, and make us instruments of your peace.
One: You declared that your kingdom has come near, yet we hesitate to share your good news or welcome the vulnerability of your mission.
All: Forgive us, Lord, and send us out with courage.
One: Receive our silent prayers as we lay down our defenses before you.

(Take a moment to offer your prayer in silence.)

One: Hear the good news of the gospel: Christ has sent word to every home, every heart, and every corner of our lives, saying, "Peace be to you." He declares that the kingdom of God has come near. In his name, and by the power of his near kingdom, your burdens are lifted, your turning back is welcomed, and your sins are forgiven.

All: We receive his peace. Amen.

Our Father who art in heaven, hallowed be thy name. Thy kingdom come, thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread; and forgive us our debts, as we forgive our debtors; and lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory, forever. Amen.

Scripture Luke 10:1-11

[1] After this the Lord appointed seventy-two others and sent them on ahead of him in pairs to every town and place where he himself intended to go. [2] He said to them, "The harvest is plentiful, but the laborers are few; therefore ask the Lord of the harvest to send out laborers into his harvest. [3] Go on your way; I am sending you out like lambs into the midst of wolves. [4] Carry no purse, no bag, no sandals, and greet no one on the road. [5] Whatever house you enter, first say, 'Peace to this house!' [6] And if a person of peace is there, your peace will rest on that person, but if not, it will return to you. [7] Remain in the same house, eating and drinking whatever they provide, for the laborer deserves to be paid. Do not move about from house to house. [8] Whenever you enter a town and its people welcome you, eat what is set before you; [9] cure the sick who are there, and say to them, 'The kingdom of God has come near to you.' [10] But whenever you enter a town and they do not welcome you, go out into its streets and say, [11] 'Even the dust of your town that clings to our feet, we wipe off in protest against you. Yet know this: the kingdom of God has come near.'

298 Lord, You Give the Great Commission

United by the refrain after each stanza, this text relies on passages from Matthew and Luke to highlight various dimensions of the church's mission and ministry in the world. It was written for use with this tune, composed in the village near Bristol, England, for which it is named.

For the Fruit of All Creation 36

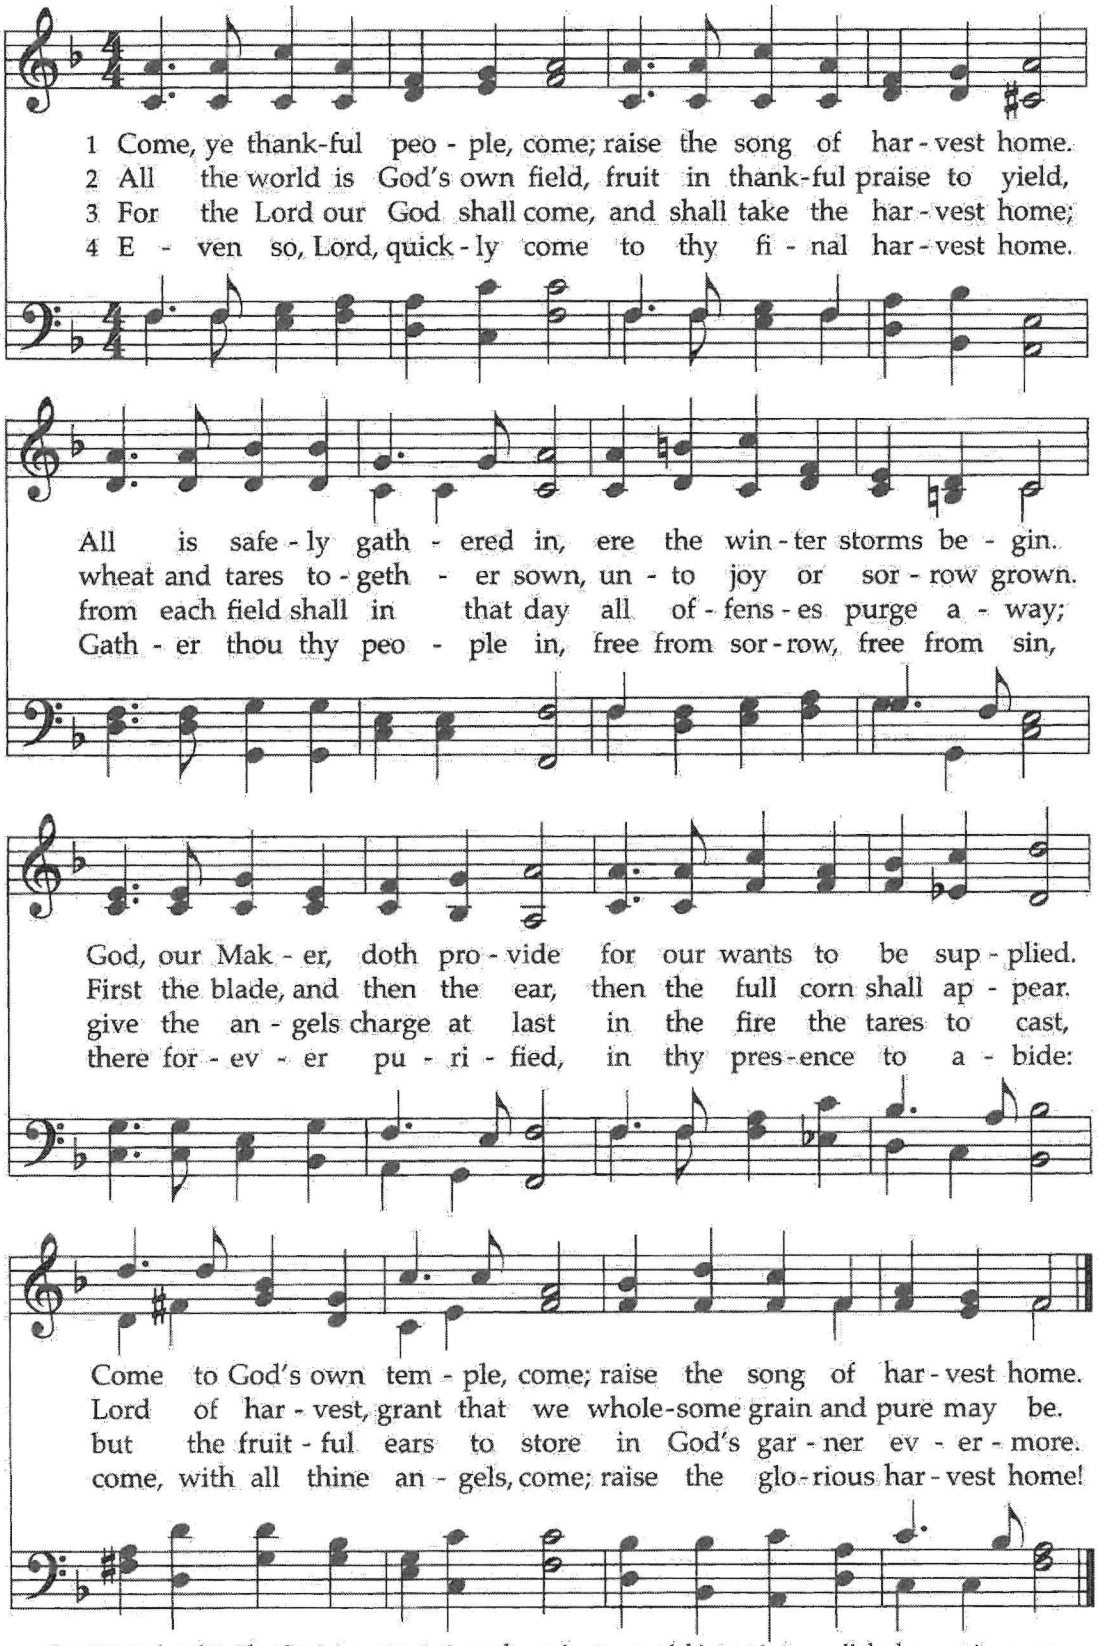

Originally called "Harvest Hymn," this text is much more comprehensive than that title implies. It also deals with stewardship, thanksgiving, and God's endless gifts that continue to astound us. It is set to a familiar Welsh tune whose name means "throughout the night."

367 Come, Ye Thankful People, Come

Despite its familiar Thanksgiving associations, the real concern of this text is to recall the harvest imagery Jesus used to describe the fulfillment of God's sovereignty. The tune name commemorates the royal chapel where the composer was organist for forty-seven years.
